LIQUOR LICENSES.

The state senate finance committee has raised liquor licenses. In fact the committee made its calculations to add one hundred and thirty thousand dollars annually to the state treasury from the one source of liquor. The committee has played no favorites in its attitude towards the liquor interests, unless it be that the "small order" establishments have been hit harder than others.

Incidentally it may be remarked that the very remote prospect of a statewide vote on prohibition by legislative action has been dealt a staggering blow by the committee in its unanimous action in ordering a favorable report on the bill to "raise revenue for the support of the government" which made the following schedule for the ensuing two years:

Saloons, ordinary, five hundred and fifty, increase of one hundred dollars.

Small order houses and retail measure places, one thousand, increase of five hundred and fifty.

Breweries, in Virginia twelve hundred and fifty from four hundred and fifty.

Distillers an even increase of one hundred per cent. on all.

Wholesalers on thousand dollars.

Rectifiers, one thousand dollars from two hundred and fifty.

What is most interesting is the fact that the liquor men made no objection whatever to any feature of the measure when it was considered. There is little room to doubt that the bill will pass, it is not considered or regarded as a temperance measure, but solely as a revenue producer.

CANNON'S FRIENDS TO STEER.

Men who are reputed to be staunch adherents of Speaker Cannon will direct the next republican congressional campaign. They were selected Friday night at an organizing meeting of the republican congressional committee. The meeting is asserted to have been none too tranquil, though so far as can be learned, there were no insurgents present. The officers chosen were:

Chairman, Representative M. Kioley, Illinois; vice chairman, Representative Tawney, Minnesota; secretary, Representative Loudenslager, New Jersey; treasurer, Charles C. Dawes, Ohio; assistant secretary, Colonel Henry Casson; assistant treasurer, John C. Evans; auditor, W. J. Browning; literary director, Francis Cortis.

Italians Engage in Fierce Fight.

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 25.—Two men are dying in the hospital and a third is seriously wounded Sunday following a fierce battle fought on the streets, shortly before midnight. The men, all Italians, were ripped and slashed by stiletto in a horrible manner. At the hospital they refused to make statements or give any information to the police concerning the fight.

Paulhan Has a Narrow Escape.

San Francisco, Jan. 25.—Louis Paulhan, the French aviator, who came unscathed from numberless hair-raising feats in the sky, came very near death as a result of an accident on terra firma. While on his way to the aerodrome here, the automobile in which Paulhan was riding was struck by a street car. The automobile was badly battered and all its occupants were severely shaken and bruised, though all escaped serious injury.
